Heat Stress Cards Now Available

Temperatures are rising to seasonal levels, individuals working outdoors in various occupations must increase their awareness to the symptoms of heat-related illness and ways of preventing this potentially deadly condition. The Nisei Farmers League along with the California Cotton Ginners & Growers Associations, Western Ag Processors Association, California Grape & Tree Fruit League, California Citrus Mutual, Raisin Bargaining Association and Allied Grape Growers, know that the key to preventing heat stress is through proper education of supervisors and employees on how to stay properly hydrated. Also, if there is an instance of heat-related illness, these individuals must know the proper treatment procedures to assure the safety and recovery of the person affected.

With this in mind, we have created an informational, wallet-size, permanent plastic card to serve as an additional education tool. This card can be distributed to employees so as for helping them recognize and treat heat-stress related illness. The cards come in English or Spanish.
